Leaders in Indigenous Medical Education

LIMElight AWARDS 2015

LIME CONNECTION VI

Knowledge Systems, Social Justice and Racism in Health Professional Education

11-13 August 2015 Townsville, Australia

The LIMElight Awards are given in recognition of significant and outstanding work that staff, students and medical schools undertake in teaching and learning of Indigenous health in medical education, as well as Indigenous student recruitment and support to graduation. These awards acknowledge innovative programs and initiatives which address critical issues, bring people together collaboratively and implement innovative solutions.

The Awards are held in conjunction with LIME CONNECTION VI, the Leaders in Indigenous Medical Education (LIME) biennial conference. The Awards will be announced at the LIME CONNECTION VI Dinner on 12 August 2015, in Townsville, Australia.

Applications and nominations are being sought for the following award categories:

- Leading innovation in Indigenous health curriculum implementation
- Leading innovation in Indigenous student recruitment, support and graduation
- Leading innovation in community engagement
- LIMElight Leadership Award for outstanding leadership by an individual
- Student Award
